PCE PRINCIPAL'S WEEKLY
November 17, 2017

NOVEMBER CHARACTER TRAIT:
RESPECT

PATRIOTIC SONG:
You're a Grand Old Flag

Principal's Message:

Hard to believe, but the first trimester ended today! Report cards will be sent home December 8. Pleas contact your child's teacher with any questions or concerns. Astounding Inventions is back! This is a great way to encourage curiosity, practice the design & engineering process, and work on presentation skills. Info went home this week and all applications are due December 8. Lastly, students are beginning to come to school adorned with cutting edge technology these days. Please keep in mind that if a watch or other "wearable technology" is brought to school, it must be turned off during school hours (phones must be kept in backpacks). Students should not be texting or making/receiving calls on these devices during school. Smart devices that can access the open internet directly are not to be used at school. These devices are not filtered by our firewall and unmonitored internet activity is not safe for young children. Thank you for helping us keep all PCE children safe. I wish all of our families a memory filled holiday and safe travels!
Mrs. Carreras

Astounding Inventions
Saturday January 27, 2018

The Astounding Inventions® Competition is a fair highlighting handmade inventions by students from kindergarten through eighth grade from the Irvine and Tustin unified school districts. The competition was established to spark student interest and learning in science, technology, engineering, math and creativity.

Each year more than 450 students present inventions they conceived and crafted on their own. The students compete for $10,000 in cash prizes, certificates of achievement and ribbons from the Irvine Valley College Foundation. Two inventions will be selected for a pro bono prior patent search and help with a provisional patent application

This event is hosted by Irvine Valley College Foundation and was established to promote student interest and learning in math and science.

Instructions were sent home for students interested in participating. Additional copies are in the office. Deadline for applying is December 8th
